

GREER ROBSON-KIRK

Height: 157.5 cm Hair Colour: Brown Eye Colour: Blue

For well over 25 years, Greer Robson has been a well-known face in New Zealand, having made her TV debut at two years of age, and her film career kicking off at the age of nine, starring in the classic, Smash Palace with Bruno Lawrence.

Winner of the New Zealand Film and Television Awards 'Best Female Dramatic Performance in Film' at 16 years old, for her leading role in 'Starlight Hotel', Greer went on to star in major films, The Scarecrow and Queen City Rocker.

Greer has starred in a number of TV series, including Shortland Street, Hercules, achieving a magnificent win with successful series Celebrity Treasure Island.

Greer supports a number of charities including Parents Incorporated and Oxfam. Previously she has lent her name and support for a Fair Trade Coffee campaign with Starbucks NZ.

Very multi-talented, Greer achieved a double major - Bachelor of Law with Honours and Bachelor of Arts from the University of Auckland and currently gaining valuable experience as a lawyer in the corporate world, working in major law firms in both Auckland and Sydney, while juggling a busy household and family which includes husband, Scott Kirk and two young daughters, Sienna (almost two years) and Indigo (five months).

Greer is sought after on the public speaking circuit, and in demand for television presenting work. Greer has recently done extremely well in TVNZ's third series of Dancing With The Stars.
